September 3, 2016

Dear MTSNYS Members,

It was good to see so many of you at the last meeting of the Society on April 2-3, 2016, at The Mannes School of Music. Attendance at the conference was at record levels.

- Special thanks on behalf of all attendees go to Christopher Park for superbly executed local arrangements.
- Johnandrew Slominski (Eastman School of Music) led the first MTSNYS student workshop, devoted to theoretical and practical studies in improvisation and partimento.
- Traditional 30 minute papers were delivered in sessions entitled “Dualism and Transformation,” “Fugue and Fantasia,” “Musical Schemata,” “Serialism and Hierarchy,” “Cadences and Periods,” and “Vocality, Emotion, and Expression.” In addition, the program introduced two sessions of lightning papers on various topics in tonal and post-tonal musics. As usual, the program demonstrated the broad range of theoretical models being explored by contemporary music theorists. Selectivity for presentations at our meetings remains at record levels.
- Nicholas Kitchen (Borromeo String Quartet) and Patrick McCreless (Yale University) gave a plenary address and performance around Beethoven’s tenth Violin Sonata in G major, Op. 96. The discussion of performance from manuscripts, and matters of articulation, was revelatory.
- Robert Wason (Eastman School of Music) delivered the keynote address, titled “The History of Music Theory and the Undergraduate Curriculum.” The paper was delivered virtually, with Bob answering questions via Skype.
- Members of the 2015 Program Committee were Edward Klorman (Queens College, CUNY, and the Juilliard School), chair; Heather Laurel (City College of New York, CUNY); Elizabeth West Marvin (Eastman School of Music); William Marvin (Eastman School of Music, ex officio); and Philip Stoecker (Hofstra University).
- The winner of the 2016 Patricia Carpenter Emerging Scholar Award is Olga Sánchez-Kisielewska for her paper “Interactions Between Topics and Schemata: The Sacred Romanesca Case,” which will be published in a future issue of Theory and Practice.

We have published the Call for Papers for the 2017 Annual Meeting on April 1-2, 2017, to be held at Hobart and William Smith Colleges (Geneva, NY); more information can be found at <http://www.mtsnys.org>. I am delighted to announce that Suzannah Clark (Harvard University) has accepted the society’s invitation to give the Keynote Address, and Anna Gawboy (Ohio State University) will lead a student workshop on curricular design. I am grateful to Charity Lofthouse for undertaking local arrangements in 2016, and to Julie Pedneault-Deslauriers (University of Ottawa) for chairing the program committee. We are pleased to confirm that the society’s Graduate Student Conference Grants scheme, inaugurated in 2010, will continue; see the application form in this newsletter for details.

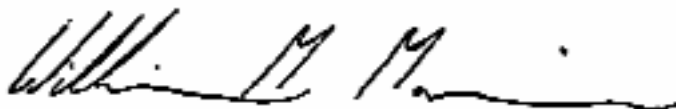

The Society will be celebrating its Fiftieth Anniversary in 2020-21. A steering committee for this celebration is currently being formed, to plan for a celebration of MTSNYS past, present, and future. Members interested in serving on this committee should contact wmarvin@esm.rochester.edu.

Volume 40 of Theory and Practice is currently available, and Volume 41 (2016) is currently in production. Sarah Marlowe (NYU) and Brian Moseley (SUNY at Buffalo) serve as Editors of Theory and Practice, and William Marvin (Eastman School of Music) is Reviews Editor. The journal accepts submissions at editorthoryandpractice@gmail.com.

As I complete my second term as President, I am grateful to the many members of the Society who have assisted in the full-time volunteer work of running a top-rated journal, organizing the annual conference which remains a leading venue in our field, and keeping the business of a non-profit Society running successfully. In a relatively small Society, it is essential that members participate fully to maintain these standards. The 2017 elections will include candidacies for President, Secretary, and two members-at-large; I hope for a vibrant slate of candidates.

The society relies and thrives on your membership. Please ensure that you are up to date on payment and that we know your active email address.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "William Marvin". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long horizontal stroke at the end.

William Marvin
President

GRADUATE STUDENT WORKSHOP ON MUSIC THEORY PEDAGOGY

Anna Gawboy (Ohio State University)

Friday, March 31, 2017

Music theory teachers must make compelling choices given the wealth of inherited curricular tradition, new instructional resources, and changing attitudes regarding what collegiate music theory education can and should be. Anna Gawboy, Assistant Professor of Music Theory at Ohio State University, will lead a workshop for graduate students preparing to enter the profession. In part I, participants will discuss foundational questions regarding curriculum design, referring to contemporary debates regarding the nature and purpose of undergraduate music theory instruction. In part II, participants will clarify their own values and methods through refining their statements of teaching philosophy.

All full-time students who are currently enrolled in a graduate program in music are eligible to apply. Those accepted must be members of MTSNYS at the time of the conference to participate. This workshop will be useful for students who are currently on or preparing to enter the job market. Applications should consist of two documents: (1) a letter that addresses the applicant's teaching experience (if any), professional goals, and interest in the workshop; (2) a brief letter of support from a faculty member that addresses the applicant's eligibility and qualifications. Participants will be randomly selected by drawing from the pool of eligible applicants. Applications should be sent to MTSNYSProposals@gmail.com by December 1, 2016.
